Some of the Best Wellness Retreats

We could all use more wellness in our lives. Whether we seek to disconnect from the outside world, challenge ourselves or relax in style, a restorative getaway to a rejuvenating resort is often the perfect way to revive the mind, body and soul.

Listed below are some wellness retreats each with their own emphasis.

- Customizable Wellness Experience: Blackberry Mountain, Tennessee. It's an all-inclusive smaller, more health-focused property with cozy, stylish rooms and villas, a great culinary program, and a daily schedule of excellent fitness classes.
- New England Reboot: Canyon Ranch Lenox. Set in a historic 19th-century Berkshires mansion, private sessions with doctors and expert healers help each guest customize their own journey, in which a day's agenda could include hiking, boxing, health lectures, kayaking, aerobics and muscle conditioning.
- Southern Comfort Wellness: Lake Austin Spa Resort, Texas. While there are many lovely attributes of this gorgeous destination property – the pretty flower gardens, the two outdoor pools, the gorgeous spaces – the real coup de grace is the location right on Lake Austin.
- Ultimate Physical Challenge: The Ranch Malibu, California. As tough as the Ashram but with beautiful rooms and gourmet vegan food, this butt-kicking spa hotel offers the ultimate physical challenge. Guests are awakened at 5:30 a.m. each morning for yoga before heading out on arduous (albeit stunning) hikes; meals are vegan and gluten-free; and visitors receive daily massages.
- Mystical Haven: Chablé Yucatan, Mexico. Located in the Yucatan Peninsula, surrounded by sleepy towns and lush jungle, Chablé is a secluded resort combining modern luxury with Maya mysticism. The core of the Chablé Yucatan experience is the spa, which is built into a cenote, a natural sinkhole considered by the Mayans to be a sacred spiritual gateway.
- Castaway Paradise: COMO Parrot Cay, Turks & Caicos. Here luxury is about unplugging and lounging on muslin-draped daybeds or getting hooked on daily yoga lessons and snacking on ultra-fresh seafood seaside. The spa alone is worth the trip, and the property emphasizes a wellness philosophy through excellent fitness offerings, a delicious health-focused menu and indulgent beauty and relaxation treatments.
